Peru, Ind. Oct. 22nd, 1858.

Professor Stearns, the Psychologist, has been giving a series of lectures and demonstrations at this place, of a highly scientific and entertaining character. I had the pleasure of attending his closing lecture, last evening, given in benefit of the poor. The exercises were in the highest degree interesting, displaying a command over his subjects, rarely attained by demonstrators in this truly wonderful science.

The principal exhibition of the evening was the Indian war-dance, performed by five young lads, and the personation of Indian character was most perfect. Their command of the Indian tongue was truly astonishing, conversing fluently, and apparently intelligently with each other; dancing the war-dance, accompanied with the war-song; shooting of arrows, scalping, tomahawking &c, all, as I conceive, in the true Indian style. The subjects were all strangers to him, I believe, before that evening. Professor Stearns is able to control about two thirds of the numbers

The greatest natural ornament to "the human orm divine," is unquestionably a fine, lumniant, healthy growth of hair. It has been so esteemed in all ages of the world, and among all nations, savage and civil z d. Hence, the Indian brave regards the scalp of his enemy as his greatest trophy. For a similar reason, the fashi onab e belle often diagnaties the region of vani y, as well as her other phreas-logical organs with borrowed locks. He who should discover a mode of preventing the hair fro showing the inroads of envious Time by turning prematurely gray, a method oy which it could be restored when falling off or turning white, and a way of promoting its continued and luxuriant growth, would be justly entitled to renk among the penelactors of the human race. When a large tree is transplanted the grow for that season. always very small, and the bank presents a dry. unhealthy appearance. The tree is l'able to bethe hard pruning necessarily leaves a great amount of dead matter in the tree, that may be concealed by the new layers of wood, but still remains dead matter.

If we could plant seeds of the trees we desired . in the places where we wanted them to form an orchard, such trees would be more healthy and much longer lived than transplanted trees can be; but this is a condition of things not easily vears, in which time we have graduated through all attained. We should, therefore adopt the nearest approach to it, and put out young, thrifty plants. with all their fibrous roots untrimmed, that will adapt themselves to the conditions in which they a valuable orchard. Could we take up large and fastidious mild trees with all their roots, and a ball of earth with each tree, then such a tree would not meet with a check, and a gain of time would be the result but this is seldom the case, and the better course is to plant out small specimens.

These rules apply also to ornamental trees and shrubs. We have a good example of this before us. About twelve years ago a large evergreen tree was transplanted by a friend in his garden. twen'y feet high. The large one has become the small and the small the large. But this is an extreme case, and the like does not always occur. Still it is a good illustration of the imprudence of seleting large trees.—Ohio Farmer.

The Republicans hallooing before they were out of the Woods. After all the fuss made by our republican brethren over their fancied victory in Indiana, it appears that the state has really gone democratic, and shows an actual gain of nearly 100 per cent over Buchanan's majority in 1856 The democratic State ticket is elected by probably not less than 5000 majority; the official returns are not all in, but enough is ascertained to make it certain that our majority cannot be less than , 3000 and will most likely run up to 5000. This, under all the circumstances, taking into account the unfortunate dissention in our ranks growing out of the Lecompton question, and the entire union of all shades of the opposition against us, is a glorious triumph, and proves Indiana to be Wednesday, nor even the form or pretence of sound to the core. At the next Presidential one. From the opening of the polls in the mornelection we anticipate a larger democratic ma- ing-until their closing in the evening, in ninejority in Indiana, in proportion to her population,

It can not be said that there was not a perfect union of the opposition upon the Black Republi. can State ticket There can be no excuse offered that any portion of the "Opposition" refused to support this ticket. But, thanks to the good immense quanti y-probably not less than from sense of the people of Indiana, it is beaten .-Peelle, the negro-loving Randolph abolitionist, is polled-pure'n illegal votes were cast in his beaten; Lange, placed on the ticket to catch favor; not only men but boys frequently voling. German votes, and who has belonged in turn to only in different wards, but in the same ward: every party which had an office to give him, is not at different hours of the day merely, but beaten; Harrer, who boasted that he was a half a dozen in succession with scarcely an at-"Pennsylvania Datchman," and made speeches in the Turner's Hall is beaten; Young, the Scotch Irishman, nominated to catch the votes of them, which were falsely represented to have a certain denomination, is defeated : Otto, the oily-tongued non-inee for Attorney General, is again defeated in his aspirations; and so are the stratugem which fraud could invent, and every candidates on the same ticket for Judges of the extremity to which violence could resort, were SupremeCourt who hold their office for six years

In 1856, Buchanan's vote in this State was 118,672; Frement's vote 93,377; Fi'morc', test vote, probably 5,000 majority over the unitliankful for the smallest kind of favors.

It is true, we have lest in our Cogressional which not even those who raised it will have the delegation, owing to the running of independent audacity to seek to substantiate by swearing to Democrats and our feelish dissentions about the facts. There will be no contest, and it would

The Legislature appears to be a tie in both branches. We have 25 Senators and the Republicans 25-with the casting veto of the L cut Governor in our favor; which will serve to arrest any ultra partizan measures that might be attemped by the Republicans. In the House we have 45 regular Democrats and 5 independents, to 44 Republicans and 6 old whig and Americans. Qur independents will be as likely to act with us as the old whig and K. N's, will ture is concerned.

On the whole the result of the election is encouraging to the democrats. With dissentions and divisions in their ranks they have beaten the united force of their opponents, after one or the hardest fights on record in this state, and nearly doubled their majority on the popular vote since the Presidential election In 1854 we were in a minority on the State ticket of 12,000, and only elected two Congressmen. by meagre majorities But the indomitable democracy rallied from the defeat, and gave Buchanan in 1856 a handsome majority. We are now 20,000 votes better off than we were in 1854, and in 1860 we shall undoubtedly roll up such a majority for the democratic candidate for President as will utterly annihilate the oppo- whole neighborhood, so that the expense would well posted on the political questions. sition party in the state. this truly wonderful science.

Professor Stearns, the Psychologist, has been giving a series of lectures and demonstrations at this place, of a highly scientific and entertaining character. I had the pleasure of attending his closing lecture, last evening, given in benefit of the poor. The exercises were in the highest degree interesting, displaying a command over his subjects, rarely attained by demonstrators in

The principal exhibition of the evening was the Indian war-dance, performed by five young lads, and the personation of Indian character was most perfect. Their command of the Indian longue was truly astonishing, conversing fluently, and apparently intelligently with each other war-song; chooting of arrows, scalping, tomahawking &c, all, as I conceive, in the true Indian The subjects were all strangers to him. believe, before that evening. Professor Stearns is able to control about two thirds of the numbers who present themselves for that purpose.

2 1. Such small plants are easily taken up with a nearly all their small fibrons roots. They have no large roots that are sure to be cut through in digging and from the ends of which no small rootlets will generally spring unavoidably leav-ing a large amount of dead root-wood, which is a positive injury.

1. Small trees receive less check in being transplanted; and in three or four years equal! if they do not exceed in size older ones. They also bear in about the same period, while they! are almost always far more thrifty.

.3. Trees that have been transclanted while smal are so liable to disease. When a large free is transplanted the grow for that season's always very small, and the back presents a dry. unhealthy appearance. The tree is l'able to become back bound, especially with cherries, and P S Underhill, Jas. Homplacy and A.J Mershon. the hard pruning necessarily leaves a great, dead matter in the tree, that may be concealed by the new layers of wood, but still remains dead matter.

If we could plant seeds of the trees we desired, in the places where we wanted them to form an examing of such thi nences, and of ers, adequate orchard, such trees would be proved both and to the demand of the refined ar s and tastes, is at orchard, such trees would be more healthy and much longer lived than transplanted trees can be; but this is a condition of things not easily years, in which time we have graduated through all attained. We should, therefore adopt the nearest approach to it, and put out young, thrifty plants. with all their fibrous roots untrimmed, that will adapt themselves to the conditions in which they are placed, and that will in course of time, form a valuable crebard. Could we take up large trees with all their roots, and a ball of earth with each tree, then such a tree would not meet with a check, and a gain of time would be the result, but this is seldom the case, and the better course is to plant out small specimens. These rules apply also to ornamental trees and shrubs. We have a good example of this before us. . Thout twelve years ago a large evergreen ree was transplanted by a friend in his garden. It was about twelve feet high and great care was In a manner not expelled by any. Nay more, "we taken of it. Now what do you think is the d'fference between the two trees at the present time? The large tree has grown about four feet. The small one is vent into tusiness we have always received unsolitwen'y feet high. The large one has become the rited en oniums from the craft—the press the small and the small the large. But this is an extreme case, and the like does not always ocenr. Still it is a good illustration of the imprudence of seleting large trees. - Ohio Farmer.

" Success of the Steam Plow - The State Board of Agriculture of Illinois offered a premium of $5.000 for steam plows. It was expected that three different inventions would be exhibited and tested at the State Frir. but only one was on the ground. That was Fawke's loce motive steam plow, Laneaster, Pennsylvania, which excited STONE COAL great interest among the prairie farmers, and performed well. The machine and apparatus. with fuel and water, weigh only about seven tuns, and by the use of a drum or barrel shaped driver, for propelling the lecomotive, the difficulty of miring in soft soil, and slipping on hard, smooth ground, is overcome. The steam plow s easily managed, and is described as a cross between a locomotive and a tender, combining the essential elements of both, mounted on two guiding wheels and a huge roller. Such acts as the forging of the returns from Delaware Crossing were paraded before the public with igreat gusto, while the destruction of the ballotbox and ballots at Sugar Mould, by Capt Montigomery, was passed by in silence. The actors in all these transactions ought to have been severely punished, but there were no laws that would reach them, and the late Legislative Assembly, which was all Free State, made no sufficient laws to meet sufficient laws to meet such cases in future, but endeavoring to paralyze the powers of the Circuit Courts, and invest the
